WARRANTS FOR 3 M. M. & E. MEN PROMISED

EMERSON CLOSETED WITH UNION ATTORNEY FOR HOURS YESTERDAY.

VISITS WIFE IN OAKLAND

CHIEF BRIARE AND DYNAMITER TRAILED BY M. M. & E. DETECTIVES.

STOCKTON, Dec. 1.—Chief of Police Briare, upon his return from Martinez, declared tonight that three warrants in all probability would be sworn out at Martinez tomorrow.

J. P. Emerson was brought back to Martinez yesterday, but before he arrived there in custody of Chief of Police Briare of Stockton he had been taken to have a long talk with Mrs. Emerson in Oakland and also to the San Francisco offices of Maxwell McNutt, attorney for the labor unions.

Briare and Emerson were trailed from Stockton to Oakland to San Francisco by two detectives of the M. M. & E.

All efforts to obtain an interview with McNutt last night were fruitless.

Emerson, Briare and McNutt were closeted together in McNutt's office for over two hours. That he made startling admissions and gave authentic testimony against higher-ups was admitted.

The authorities at Martinez refused to make any statement other than that no statement could be made until tonight.

TWO ESCAPE IN AUTO CRASH

E. V. HALL AND O. DIETRICH HAVE NARROW ESCAPE

When Edward V. Hall, real estate dealer, driving an automobile rapidly along Ashland avenue, yesterday afternoon, attempted to turn aside for a gravel wagon, the machine skidded and crashed against a telegraph post. Hall and Otto Dietrich, proprietor of the cigar store at 402 Macdonald avenue, who was in the machine, were thrown to the ground.

The partially wrecked automobile was towed to the Mount Diablo garage for repairs.

Home Industry to Build New School

MEN WHO BID CLOSEST TO WINNING FIGURE WERE THOSE WHO FIGURED ON THE BIDS OF SUB-CONTRACTORS OF RICHMOND.

A big boost for home industry in Richmond was registered yesterday by the discovery that all the general contractors who were close to the winning figure in the bids on the Grant school building were men who figured on the bids made by Richmond sub-contractors.

Among the losers with the highest bids was a San Francisco general contractor, who figured all his sub-contracts from bids outside of Richmond.

The results show that the new Grant school will be built by local men and at a cost to the city even less than estimated. The estimated cost of the building was $50,000. The successful bid was around $45,000.

The school board will probably be ready to officially award the contract tomorrow night. There were a large number of propositions to be bid on and these must all be figured out before the final award is made. The bids of Carl Overaa, however, were all less than the others.

The closest way the different bids can be figured puts M. Morton within $137 of Overaa's bid. But on other propositions Overaa's bids were the lowest by much larger sums. Morton also figured the work from Richmond sub-contractors' bids, as did all the others who were anywhere near the winner.

The result on this contest has shown in a marked way the advantage to Richmond of the organization of the Builders' Exchange.

The Richmond bidders on the sub-contracts were as follows: Plumbing—Ray W. Johnson, E. J. Maloney, Spiersch Bros. and J. I. Collins.

Painting—Zeb Knott, E. A. Marshall and A. Brunner.

Sheet metal—Spiersch Bros. and Dickson, Holbrook & Clear.

Brick—C. E. Surles, H. L. Penry and T. H. Burton.

Electric fixtures—Pioneer Electric Co., Richmond Electric Co. and Pacific Electric Mfg. Co.

Plastering—C. H. Brown, A. Tennant and E. B. Rendell.

Roofing—Ernest Jenks.

Mill work—Bruce Lumber and Mill Co. and Tilden & Eakle Co.

H. F. BROWN BACK FROM THE EAST

Herbert F. Brown, local real estate man, returned yesterday from a three-months' trip through the East, where he was following his profession of "factory-getting." He declared that a number of big plants are thinking of locating in Richmond.

"Richmond will bound ahead in 1915," he declared. "The attention of heads of industries is attracted towards the bay region and particularly Richmond. It will be a big year for Richmond."

TURKEY'S FANATICAL KURDS.

Wild as the Russian Cossacks are reputed to be, wilder by far are the Kurds of the Turkish army. Fanatical followers of the Prophet to such a degree that they verge on the very brink of religious insanity, and barbarous almost beyond belief. Twenty-five thousand of these fanatical fighters help to strengthen the army of over one million veteran lighters, called out by the Musselman Empire against Russia.

CZAR AND KAISER AT FRONT IN POLAND TO CHEER FORCES

PARIS, Dec. 1.—North of a river the Germans and French fought furiously most of the day. Heavy losses were suffered by both sides. By a flanking movement the French took the plateau of Vermelles, held by the Germans for the last three days, and considered of great strategic value.

The German offensive is growing more determined and French reinforcements are being rushed to the front.

LONDON—Kaiser and Czar are watching the progress of the battle.

In North Poland, the King of England is in France and Belgium's King, as usual, is with his forces. President Poincaré of France went today to the front. For two weeks now the battle in Poland has raged and losses have been tremendous. It appears certain now that the Germans when they started for Warsaw smashed half way through the Russian forces and that only by furious fighting did they escape being surrounded. It is apparent that the Russians are being forced to tremendous efforts to prevent a further German advance.

LODGES START MOVEMENT TO AID LOCAL UNEMPLOYED

Representatives of the fraternal organizations of Richmond will meet at 8 o'clock Friday evening in the First Presbyterian church for the purpose of starting an organized charitable and co-operative movement to help the local unemployed.

Rev. Guy A. White is a leading spirit in the movement. E. Foster and C. B. Evans were made a committee last night by the El Cerrito Camp No. 11622 of Woodmen, with full power to act for that organization at the meeting.

At the meeting of the lodge last night Rev. White spoke on the movement, declaring that many Richmond people were in imperative need of assistance. He said that he believed the poor who are nearest should be helped first. "It is to be something besides a charity organization," said Rev. White last night. "In a sense it will be a free employment agency, too. We will do what we can to help those that need help here in Richmond. It is to be thoroughly local in its scope. There isn't to be anything about Belgium in it."

MONEY POURS IN FOR TAXES

MARTINEZ, Dec. 1.—About $46,000 was paid the tax collector on Monday, the last day to pay taxes without becoming delinquent.

Besides the cash were hundreds of checks in varying amounts, which have not as yet been totaled by County Tax Collector Martin W. Joost.

CONTRACTOR TO EXPLAIN DELAY

T. M. Collins, who holds the contract for installing the heating plant at the county hospital annex, has been cited to appear before the supervisors and give reasons for his delay in the work. If he does not the supervisors will order the completion of the installation at Collins' expense.

Taxpayers' Assn. Has 300 Members

FOUR PETITIONS FILLED UP—FIFTH TO BE STARTED TODAY AT STEGE BY MAN WHO VOLUNTEERED FOR THE JOB.

The Richmond Taxpayers' Association now numbers more than 300 members, according to the figures of George C. Henley, who yesterday totaled the signatures on the four petitions in circulation. Of these the largest number were on the petition handled by Henley, to which 144 citizens and taxpayers had affixed their signatures up to 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

Arrangements for putting out more petitions are being made. The fifth petition is expected to be started today at Stege by a citizen who volunteered to take charge of it.

The object of the association, as explained by its backers, is to investigate the expenditure of public money. The taxpayers, who put up the money, intend to take a closer interest in the expenditure of their funds and will work to hold the tax rate down as much as possible.

They will direct their first efforts toward a closer supervision of the expenditure of public money by the municipality, but announce as their ultimate aim a supervision of the expenditure of all the public funds of Contra Costa county.

POLICE SEARCH SAN FRANCISCO FOR KILLER

OFFICERS BELIEVE JOSEPH ANGELO FLED ACROSS BAY TO FRIENDS.

The search for Joseph Angelino, accused of the murder of John Duce, who was shot to death near Grand Canyon Park Sunday night, was yesterday transferred to San Francisco.

Officers believe that Angelino escaped across the bay Monday night after he had slipped back to his cabin and donned his best clothes. They think he may have been aided in his escape by some of his countrymen. He has relatives in different towns about the bay.

His full name is Joseph Angelino Matteo. Under Sheriff W. M. Veale yesterday stated he believed Matteo is hiding in San Francisco. The police there are assisting in the search for him.

An investigation of the circumstances of the shooting indicate, say officers, that Duce was the aggressor in the fatal quarrel.

Duce will be buried at 9 o'clock Thursday morning. The body is now in charge of the Smallwood undertaking parlors. The funeral will be held from St. Mary's church and the body will be buried in St. Mary's cemetery, Oakland.

Lorenzo Duce, a cousin of the dead man, who lives near Grand Canyon Park, and Caesar Duce, another cousin from San Rafael, with other relatives and friends of the dead man are making the arrangements for the funeral.

FOOT TO MOVE.

L. Foti will move his barber shop from 625 Macdonald avenue today to a temporary location. He will return to the new Foti building, now being built, when it is complete.

BARTON WILL MANDAMUS COUNCIL

DECLARES HE WILL FORCE CITY OFFICIALS TO PERMIT ANALYSIS.

THINKS REQUEST REASONABLE

"I WANT TO KNOW WHAT I AM GETTING FOR MY ASSESSMENT."

Mandamus proceedings to force the city council to allow him to take up a section of the paving at Tenth and Bissell were promised yesterday by Daniel Barton, 152 Tenth street. Barton made a request of the council Monday night, stating in his letter he desired to have the paving analyzed. The council denied his request.

Barton's desire to have an analysis of the material is an outgrowth of the case now pending in court in which more than 100 property owners are fighting the assessment that was levied against them to pay for paving ordered substituted by the council for the old macadam paving.

Barton's share of the assessment was more than $100. He stated yesterday that he believed he had a right as a citizen and taxpayer to know what he was given for the assessment.

"Within the last few months I have had some insight into the analysis of paving material by scientific experts and I desire to know if the pavement at Tenth and Bissell is the same as required by the specifications under which it was put in. I do not think my request of the council is unreasonable. I do not wish to be regarded as one opposed to public improvements. I am in favor of all desirable public improvements. I have no personal animosity toward any of the council."

"But I believe that as a citizen and a taxpayer I have a right to make the request that was denied by the council. I do not intend to let the matter drop here. Later I shall seek to obtain my rights by legal proceedings. The case of the property owners who protested the assessment for the paving will also be fought out in the courts."

EL CERRITO CAMP ELECTS

El Cerrito Camp No. 11622, Modern Woodmen of America, at a large meeting last night elected the following officers to serve during the ensuing term:

Consul, A. O. Bennett; adviser, D. E. Wilkenson; banker, A. A. Winfree; clerk, C. B. Evans; escort, W. H. Mallory; watchman, F. W. Brown; secretary, J. T. Wells; manager, F. J. Frost; physicians, Dr. H. Vestal and Dr. H. L. Carpenter.

BREWERY TALK REVIVED.

That a certain unnamed brewery located outside of California is considering locating in Richmond, was the purport of a letter received by the Industrial Commission yesterday. The company will decide January 1 whether or not to send some one to look over Richmond. Nothing more definite than the above has been given out.

ELMER HARRIS LEAVES HOSPITAL.

HIGH TIME.

It begins to look at last as if some one besides J. P. Emerson, and Wilson and Carlisle, will be brought to justice for the infamous plot to "show up" the leaders of California organized labor as dynamiters.

The case has dragged on and "developments" have been promised day after day. Emerson has been held to answer on three charges and Wilson and Carlisle have been held to answer on one.

On the charge of illegally having dynamite in their possessions they will be tried in Stockton February 2.

Yesterday Chief of Police Briare took Emerson from Stockton to Oakland, where Mrs. Emerson, it is said, made a statement. Then he was taken to San Francisco, where a conference was held with Attorney Maxwell McNutt. They were trailed by two M. M. & E. detectives.

At this writing we don't know what Emerson talked about, other than the assurance that the net is tightening around the higher-ups.

With all respect to the officials that have been working on the case, it's high time the net was tight enough to swear out a few warrants.

While the M. M. & E. exists in California, the workers are constantly facing the danger of being plunged into an open shop war such as has failed in Stockton.

Organized labor is formed to raise wages and keep them raised and to constantly work for the shorter work day, so that one set of workers will not work long hours while another set is unemployed. To force employers to raise wages so that the worker's pay will at least go up with the cost of living is often impossible without the strike.

But labor hasn't organized for the purpose of striking. It only strikes as a last resort. Any differences that can be settled without the strike are settled peacefully.

With the M. M. & E., however, constantly striving to organize the employers for open shop wars to shove the wage scale down, industrial troubles will be almost constant in one part of the state or another. And if the M. M. & E. are quite willing to "plant" dynamite, employ men to burglarize box cars to get the dynamite and cart it through cities in automobiles; if they are ready always to employ thugs and gunmen to attack union men, the cities of California are going to be in constant danger of passing through just such an ordeal as that of Stockton.

The M. M. & E. has practically lost out in Stockton. But in their attempt to lengthen hours and shorten wages they have brought hunger to hundreds of families, hurt the business of hundreds of business men and given Stockton a highly undesirable brand of advertising.

The organization was formed to smash the unions. The unions, because of the principle upon which they are founded, can't be smashed. But these futile attempts can be made again and again to the infinite disadvantage of the workers and the innocent bystanders.

Therefore the uncompromising prosecution of any officials of the M. M. & E. who may have broken laws is of vital importance to every worker in the state, organized or unorganized.

If Brokaw violated the law, why isn't he arrested? He admitted to the district attorney of Stockton that he had directed the movements of stolen dynamite, that he ordered it carried around the city in an automobile.

If some working stiff took to hiding dynamite in Richmond, he would very shortly find himself in jail. It is hard to understand the fine distinction.

WAITING FOR TWENTY YEARS.

Twenty years is a long time to wait, but to wait that long and not get it, is, to say the least, discouraging. It looks at this writing as if the La Follette Seamen's Bill would not become a law during the sixty-third Congress, and it also appears that the case of Andrew Furuseth, president of the International Seamen's Union, representing some 16,000 members, could be put down as the most noteworthy illustration of watchful waiting in the history of national legislation. For twenty years (since January, 1894) this tall Norseman has been a familiar figure at the Capitol. His mission has been to get a law written on the statute books that will spell justice to sailors. In spite of the shipping trust lobby, the most powerful in Washington, the bill did manage to get through Congress twice. During the Taft administration it passed both Houses and went to the President for his signature. That was March 3; on March 4 Mr. Taft went out of office with the bill in his inside pocket. He forgot (?) to sign it. Last August it passed the sixty-third Congress, and Furuseth began to see his dream coming true. They informed him, however, that the bill would yet have to go to the Senate Commerce Committee for further consideration, and asked him to please wait in the ante-room till it came out. As he waited a procession of Great Lakes' vessel owners and lawyers passed into the committee room. Andrew Furuseth is still waiting. Twenty years trying to get a law to protect sailors and the traveling public, but in two days the one billion dollar emergency bill is passed to protect the financiers of Wall Street.—Art Young in the Metropolitan.

An Acquittal and a Conviction

By WILLIAM CHANDLER

When my uncle Charles Dingley was found dead one morning in his bed I as his nearest male relative was at once summoned. I went to his room, which had been left untouched in every particular, and by the bed on which the body lay I found a bottle about two inches high and one inch square, around the four sides of which was pasted a label with the usual "Poison" warning printed on it.

There was nothing in my uncle's affairs to indicate that he had had any intention of committing suicide. He had not been very well for a few days, but there was nothing serious the matter with him. He might have been murdered and the bottle placed at his side to give the impression that he had taken poison. There were no marks on the body to indicate that he had been murdered.

The establishment of the facts in the case did not appeal to me. My uncle was dead, and whether he had been murdered or murdered himself made little difference to me. To put detectives on the case would cost money, but who would be the gainer? The authorities came to the house, made a perfunctory examination of the body and its surroundings and reported that the deceased had come to his death by means of poison administered by himself.

I went through the house myself looking for a clue. I had found a tumbler on the table with the poison and in the kitchen pantry found a dozen others of the same shape and make.

That fact indicated that the tumbler had come from the pantry. Dishes containing different kinds of food—mostly left over—were in the closet, one of them being a saucer of preserved peaches. It had apparently been knocked over, and a little of the juice had been spilled on the floor. It occurred to me that whoever had taken down the tumbler from the shelf had done so in the dark and had put his hand against the dish of peach preserves.

If he had done this some of the juice, if it had got on his fingers, might have adhered to them. I found faint, cloudy smears on the tumbler and, putting the tip of my tongue on them, thought I could detect saccharine matter. Examining the label on the poison bottle carefully, I found stains that I inferred might be the same as the cloud on the glass.

I looked up the tumbler and the bottle of poison, but had no desire to go any further with my examinations. I saw nothing to be gained by unearthing the mystery.

Fate decided, however, that it should be unraveled, for, rather, it should come out that there was no mystery at all. I was engaged to a girl who had discarded a former lover. Herman Goodsell hated me and brought about a suspicion that I had murdered my uncle. But this did not occur until my uncle had been buried. The will when opened disclosed the fact that my uncle had left a lot of money and every cent of it to me. Then our enemy began to get in his fine work, whispering here and there, till the police felt obliged to take cognizance of the reports and arrested me for murder.

The first thing I did was to engage an attorney and through him obtain the exhumation of the body for the purpose of having the finger prints taken. This was done. Then I had the tumbler that had stood by my uncle's bed examined with a microscope. A faint yellow substance was found on it, which contained a finger print. By treating the label of the poison bottle chemically a very clear finger print was obtained.

I had no idea how the accusation against me had started until my fiancée told me that she had probed the matter and traced a beginning to her former lover. This put me on my mettle to thwart him, and I named him as one of my witnesses to be subpoenaed for my trial. I gave my lawyer a list of questions to ask him, most of which had been furnished me by my sweet-heart. When the case was called he was one of the first witnesses to take the stand, and my attorney soon showed malevolence on his part in this: That he had gone about spreading the reports that I had murdered my uncle. This had nothing to do with the case, but was intended for revenge.

When my real defense came up my attorney made short work of the matter. He had the tumbler and the label of the poison bottle in court, copies of the finger prints on them and a finger print of my uncle's thumb and two forefinger tips. They talked exactly.

Goodsell was in court when I received my vindication. Under my instruction he received a tongue lashing that he was not likely to forget. My advocate showed how little evidence there had been against me, how it had been worked up by Goodsell and his reasons for having started the suspicions against me which had led to a needless and expensive trial. Goodsell cringed under it. Indeed, my acquittal was his conviction. When my counsel had ceased speaking my accuser left the courtroom and has never shown his face in the place since.

My uncle's bequest was a surprise to me, for I supposed he had little or nothing of value to leave and what he had would go to another branch of the family.

LABOR NEWS

"In unity there is strength, united we stand divided we fall."

LOCAL MAN CRACKS SOCIALISTS IN UNION PAPER

In an article printed in the Potter's Herald, published at East Liverpool, Ohio, J. Kennedy, a local potter, takes a crack at the Socialists. The article is much too long to reprint in its entirety, but following are some excerpts.

"Recent events of world-wide importance have indicated that political parties are impotent insofar as they may have power to benefit the workers, and the political sharks in each and all, have acted as politicians, have been acting from time immemorial.

"Is it not about time to ease up on the political stunt and cast about for some other means to accomplish the workers' freedom?"

"The European worker walked up and deposited his ballot for his 'comrade' and then when the capitalists declared war the worker was as powerless as if he was trying to shield himself behind his 'slip of paper' with one of Krupp's guns pointed at him.

"The trades union movement, which shortens the hours of labor, raises wages etc., by fighting capitalism at the point of contact, viz., on the job, is the only power that can prevent a capitalist government (as all governments are and always will be) from forcing the workers to war.

"But those are dull, uninteresting things, these labor unions, and there is only a half a loaf policy. They have no set program, no ideal. No, you must, but they are bringing home the bacon in spite of 'politics,' and if half the energy expended on the 'millenium' was devoted to clearing the unions of excess baggage the latter bodies would soon deprive Socialists of their favorite topic."

10,000 STRIKE IN NEW YORK FOR WAGE RAISE

WALK-OUT OF TAILORS CLOSES 250 SHOPS—REDUCTIONS ARE CAUSE.

NEW YORK, Dec. 1.—A novel strike in which employers forced the issue began here today with the result that 10,000 tailors are idle and 250 shops controlled by the children's contractors' association, composed of finishers who contract for making up garments for manufacturers, are closed.

The closing order was declared to force the manufacturers to withdraw a reduction in prices which they put into effect some days ago for the making up of the garments, and is therefore virtually a strike.

A statement by the association says that in the present condition of the trade it would be out of the question to accept the reduction, especially as the contractors have already raised the wages of their tailors, who are now idle.

HIRAM CANDIDATE FOR PRESIDENT IN 1916?

EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE OF PARTY MEETS TODAY IN CHICAGO.

CHICAGO, Dec. 1.—It was considered probable that the executive committee of the Progressive party, when it meets tomorrow, would not make any decision relative to the course to be followed by the party in the 1916 Presidential campaign.

Among those of the party who want to see the Progressive ticket in the Presidential race in 1916 was M. D. Callahan of Richmond, Ind., who intimated that Governor Johnson of California, running mate of Colonel Roosevelt in 1912, was available Presidential timber.

ASK 104 MILLION FOR U. S. ARMY

IS TREMENDOUS INCREASE OVER THIS YEAR'S WAR EXPENSES.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1.—Appropriating $104,124,512 to carry the army through the coming year is proposed in estimates which the War Department has just completed for submission to Congress. This is an increase of $3,105,300 over the total carried by the army bill for the current year, although reductions are made in the allowances for many branches of the service.

A new item of $150,000 for purchase of automatic machine rifles is asked. Altogether $2,900,000 is sought for ammunition compared with $3,000,000 carried in the current law. For field artillery for the organized militia $2,090,000 is asked, $2,100,000 having been appropriated last year. For the manufacture, repair and issuance of arms at the national armories, $250,000 is asked as against $450,000 last year.

WILSON READY TO WITHDRAW TROOPS

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1.—President Wilson will withdraw federal troops from the Colorado strike zone as soon as he receives official word from Governor Ammons that the state is ready to resume control. The President reiterated today that the commission named by him Sunday would have nothing to do with the present strike, but was appointed to be of service in settling differences which might arise in the future.

Seth Low and the other members of the commission are expected in Washington December 14 to confer with Department of Labor officials.

ELEVEN TO HANG IN ARIZONA ON DECEMBER 19

ALL WILL BE JOLTED INTO ETERNITY AT THE SAME TIME.

PHOENIX, Ariz., Dec. 1.—Eleven lives will be snuffed out simultaneously at Arizona's "hanging bee" at the Florence penitentiary December 19, according to the plans of Governor Hunt and Warden Sims. The executioner who could stand the strain of dropping the trap from under eleven prisoners does not exist, the warden told the governor.

When the people of Arizona voted overwhelmingly at the November election against abolishing capital punishment, Governor Hunt announced he would allow the execution of eleven condemned prisoners to take place as the courts had scheduled.

The matter of constructing a hanging platform in one of the prison buildings or in the prison yard for the simultaneous executions will be considered at a meeting of the state board of control today.

Pen Paralysis! Have you got it?

NO, we do not mean merely paralysis of the fingers. We mean another kind of paralysis far more serious; the kind that paralyzes the pen writer—not sometimes but always.

Pen writing in this age means needless time waste, needless labor waste, needless fatigue. Every one who continues to write with the pen in this day of the typewriter is placing himself under a heavy time and labor handicap, a handicap which means partial paralysis of all his energies.

The cure for pen paralysis, the new and certain cure, is the

Remington JUNIOR Typewriter

The Remington Junior is the very latest thing in typewriters. Its name tells you what it is. It is a Remington Typewriter, the newest Remington product, as swift and durable and reliable as any Remington, but smaller, lighter, simpler and more portable than the standard Remington models. It is built on purpose for the home, the traveler, the doctor, the clergyman, the farmer, the retailer—for everyone who needs a small, compact typewriter for the simpler uses like manuscript and letter writing. Just the machine for which you have been waiting.

The price of the Remington Junior is $50.00, cash with order. For $55.00 we will sell you a Remington Junior on terms of $5.00 down and $5.00 a month. Cut out the attached coupon and send it to us with $5.00 in cash, check or money order, and we will send the machine.

Ross and Johnson Offer Unique
Xmas Gift to Patrons.

The opening of the Ross & Johnson Home Portrait Studio at Fifteenth and Clay streets, opposite Tatt & Pennoyer's, Oakland, gives Oakland one more unique, high art photo gallery. Mr. S. B. Ross, formerly of the Hartsook and Bushnell studios, will assume charge of the business office and promises many features for the benefit of the public. Among the first will be a souvenir Christmas opening offer of a beautiful colored photo of yourself, babies or family group, 7x11 inches, in an Artist case. This colored photo will be given free to every person ordering a sitting between now and Christmas.

With Mr. Ross is associated Mr. H. S. Johnson, a noted Eastern artist. Mr. Johnson will be in full charge of the studio, giving his personal attention to every sitting and the finishing work. Mr. Johnson's reputation for artistic ability combines with originality. They guarantee all work to be finished within one week from the date of the sitting, so that portraits that are desired for Christmas will be ready in plenty of time.

Too much stress cannot be put on the fact that Messrs. Ross and Johnson not only handle studio sittings, but will also make appointments for sittings in your own home.

This, as has been demonstrated by these gentlemen, is a very desirable way of having portraits taken, as it brings in many of the familiar details and surroundings of one's own fireside as well as eliminating the inconvenience necessitated by having to go to the studio.

However, the studio work is preferable in many cases, and Mr. Ross, to encourage this work, offers photos from $5 per dozen up.

Photo coupons and special rate orders on any representative studio will be accepted here at their full face value and in addition will entitle the holder to the colored photo offer.

The Santa Maria Derelict

By M. QUAD

Copyright, 1914, by Associated Literary Press.

Of all the devilish, cold blooded things done by men you will have read of few to equal what took place aboard one of the Spanish merchantmen, the Santa Maria, in the year 1492. It was published in the papers at the time, but only a partial account, and as we had war and excitement at home the incident was soon forgotten.

One of the oldest business houses in Mexico up to the date above named was that of the Spanish house of Galera & Co., founded seventy-five years previously. The business of the house was banking, mining, merchandising and cattle raising. It had a dozen branches in Mexico, and it had dealings with half a dozen countries. In a financial sense it was stronger than the government, and its yearly profits footed up an enormous sum. A son of the founder had succeeded to the management, and when old age came he turned over the active work to a cousin named Alvarez. The new manager was a young man of twenty-five, born in Spain of a fine family and had been educated for the priesthood. He was a man without a vice. Such was his probity that he was called "Holy Alvarez" even in his youth. At an enormous salary and with abdicatory powers young Alvarez took over the management of affairs in Mexico, and almost as soon as he stepped foot on North American soil a change took place in his character. He began to drink, gamble and play fast and loose.

Of course there was gossip about the new manager, and there were those who predicted that his extravagances would ultimately bring ruin to the old house, but there were no official complaints. He knew little of business, but he did know how to spend money royally, and in a year he had people guessing how much longer it would take him to bankrupt the house. It was after the balance sheets had proved to him that he was spending more than the profits of the house and was a debtor to an enormous amount that he set about preparing a grand coup. The Spanish merchantman was loaded with a consignment of gold, silver, copper, furs and dyestuffs for Spain and the cargo insured to the last cent. Alvarez took into his confidence a young man named Prado, and when the Santa Maria sailed his confederate went with her as supercargo.

The ship was manned by a crew of fourteen men, all Spaniards. Thirty days after her sailing to the southward the American bark Homeward left the port of Valparaiso homeward bound. We had been out three days when we ran into a dead calm, with the weather so terribly hot that the deck planks smoked in the sun. As we lay heaving on the ground swell a small boat drifted into view. It seemed to be empty, and it had been in sight for two hours and was not over half a mile away when the captain decided to pick it up. A boat was sent off, and when it returned with the stranger we had a sad spectacle under our eyes. There was a dead man lying at full length under the thwart.

About two days later we came up with a derelict from which the man in the boat had no doubt escaped. On board a horrible sight met us: the bodies of fourteen dead men.

The derelict was a great find to us. Her manifest showed a cargo valued at over $2,000,000, and the ship was all right above deck.

As the man got away alone and had provisioned the boat it must have been after the others were dead. He it was, then, who had brought about the wholesale death of the crew, and he must have had a strong motive. That motive was discovered when some of the boxes of treasure were hoisted out of the lazaret and broken open. Aside from one or two boxes, the whole treasure business was a fake. Lead had been substituted for silver and gold. The furs were a cheat and a fraud, and the value of the dyestuffs was not one-quarter of the sum they were insured for. A second and closer search of the stateroom evidently occupied by the supercargo gave us the key to unlock the whole mystery. He had left behind a letter of instruction signed by Alvarez at the City of Mexico, and in that we learned that the name of the dead man was Prado.

With the auger hole plugged and a part of our crew on board the Santa Maria, we laid our course for the port of Valdivia, and in due time both craft arrived there in good shape. The dead had been given burial, of course, but there was no lack of other proofs. As soon as the plot was unraveled steps were taken for the arrest of Alvarez in Mexico, and our claim for salvage was filed. Governments move slowly in international matters. It was months before they got ready to arrest the man who had plotted this sea tragedy. He had meanwhile continued his career of dissipation and extravagance, depending upon his insurance money to make everything good. News got to him somehow from Valdivia of the derelict being towed in, and he left Mexico and hid away in Bolivia. There he was at last found, but he cheated the hangman by committing suicide.

As a plot hatched against an equal and as a tragedy of the sea one must believe that Prado was little short of a devil incarnate to sweep aside coolly the fourteen human beings who stood in his path.

WHO KILLED BOXING? THE MEN WHO DIDN'T RUN IT RIGHT

WOULD NOW FIGHT LAW

SHOULD WORK TO PUT GAME UNDER CONTROL, AS IN NEW YORK.

By NIMO.

A movement is being financed by promoters who have had rich picking in the boxing game, to fight the enforcement of the anti-prize-fight law passed in California at the last election.

Constitutionality of the anti-prize-fight amendment will be tested on the ground that it is class legislation. The measure allows amateur four-round boxing matches. A San Francisco promoter who has a permit for professional four-round contests in December said he would go ahead and base his contest on habeas corpus proceedings, to be instituted whenever the principals in his fights are arrested.

WILL HURT AMATEUR GAME.

If the promoters follow this up and hire a big battery of legal talent they may get away with it for awhile. But the ultimate result will be that they will kill all kinds of boxing, including the amateur bouts.

The majority of people in California have voted to do away with professional fighting. If the promoters are wise they will accept the verdict of the court. There is a loud wail from promoters whose pocket-books have been hit, that "the church people" and "the rural districts" have killed boxing. They didn't. The persons who put professional boxing out of California are the promoters, who didn't run professional boxing right.

IT WENT THE WAY OF RACING.

Boxing—or fighting, if you please—is in itself a clean sport. All people do not regard it that way. Many would not enjoy looking at a boxing match. But mighty few of those same people would go to the trouble of depriving other men who do like boxing of the privilege of seeing the sport if it had not been conducted so obnoxiously that it smelled to heaven.

No one ever had a knock against horse racing itself. The gamblers and fakers killed the game. Even gambling would never have killed horse racing if it had been "square" gambling. But there isn't any such thing. And it was getting to be pretty much the same way in boxing. The last few mitt shows in San Francisco, in which promoters did not put on the bouts they advertised, and in which some fakes were attempted that were so raw the police prohibited decisions being given, ought to convince most everyone that it was time for professional boxing to be chloroformed.

SHOULD WORK FOR NEW YORK PLAN.

This doesn't mean it should stay dead. An operation could fix it up in good shape. The present law allows amateur four-round bouts. This shows that the public does not object to boxing as a sport. There is no reason to believe that there would be insurmountable opposition to a revival of the professional game under the plan adopted by New York and Wisconsin.

There the state takes a cut of the gate receipts and a state commission regulates the game to keep it on the square. The same could and should be done in California.

But the promoters probably wouldn't be content to have it that way. And just as sure as they start their fight to circumvent the will of the majority as shown at the last election, the public will become thoroughly disgusted and clamp the lid on boxing so tight it will be a penitentiary offense to hit a punching bag.

RICHMOND IN REVIEW

IT'S NO easy graft TO WRITE a nut column EVERY day, IN addition TO doing SEVERAL thousand OTHER UNIMPORTANT things, AND KEEP it up TO THE some high standard OF insignificance. BUT ANY day THAT I need a lay-off I KNOW where I CAN get A LOTTA talent THAT could edit THIS SOB of sorrow IN GOOD shape. I remember A COUPLE weeks ago A CASE in court. A MAN was on trial ACCUSED of running A GAMBLING game. I LISTENED to THE legal sharps UNTIL I didn't know WHETHER he was THE SAID party of the second part, OR JUST a plain HABEAS corpus, OR something LIKE that. BUT anyway IT seems THAT THERE had been A POKER game. WHATEVER that is. AND the jury WAS ALL asleep. BUT WEHN the lawyer FOR the prosecution PLAYED his high card s

IN THE case, AND DUMPED a bunch OF poker chips OUT ON THE table FOR evidence, THE JURY awoke WIT Ha jump, AND AS one man REACHED for THEIR bank rolls TO BUY a stack AND sit in. AND the lawyer FOR THE prosecution TRIED to prove THAT THE defendant WAS a welcher, WHO HAD lost AND wouldn't pay. BUT THE jury WENT TO sleep again. AND SO the lawyer THREW away THE penal code AND THE constitution AND life AND liberty AND THE pursuit OF happiness. AND ALL those OTHER LEGAL terms, AND IN plain English STATED to the court THAT THE accused HAD DEALT himself FOUR aces from THE BOTTOM OF THE deck. BUT the attorney FOR THE defendant DEMURRED, and said: "WELL, it was his deal, WASN'T IT?"

WHEREAT the court RULED THAT the FOUR aces WERE irrelevant, INCOMPETENT, and NON COMPOS mentis, ET cetera, AND SO forth. FINALLY the prosecutor BROUGHT IN a witness WHO swore THAT THE accused HAD FAILED to raise A TWO-BIT bet WHILE holding up THREE queens, AND THE jury PROMPTLY brought in A VERDICT OF CRIMINAL negligence. AND A fellow THAT HAD been sitting IN THE back part OF the room BROUGHT up A POCKET full OF poker chips AND ASKED the judge TO CASH 'em for him. BUT it seems THE LAW is not clear ON that point. WELL, when I need A GOOD man TO fill up THIS NUT column WITH its daily LOA DOF junk, I'LL call in ONE OF my GOOD LAWYER friends.

RIGHT AND WRONG OF ATHLETICS

THE DIFFERENCE BETWEEN A SPORTSMAN AND A SPORTING MAN.

Here is a little classic on sports issued by the National Collegiate Athletic Association, an organization that is working for the development of "sportsmen" instead of "sporting men."

Athletic sport, if honorably and wisely conducted, can hold its own in any institution of learning; but to gain a position of dignity it must be saved from many of its friends and maintained on so high a level that no reasonable man can question its value.

Rightly administered, it strengthens the weak, improves the weak places in the strong, clears the brain, teaches boys and young men to respect their bodies, and to know the relation of a clean, vigorous body to an active mind and an honorable life. Rightly conducted, it is a school of manly skill, courage, honesty, self-control, and even of courtesy; wrongly conducted, it is a school of bad manners, vulgarity, tricky evasion, brutality—the ideals not of a sportsman, but of a sporting man.

We are constantly told that in England men play for the sake of playing, whereas in

NATIVE SON BEST PLAYER IN WORLD

McLOUGHLIN CHOSEN BY EXPERT AS GREATEST RACQUET WIELDER.

The first ten lawn tennis players of the world as arranged by A. W. Mavrogordato, a member of the English Davis Cup team of 1914, includes two American racquet wielders. Australasia has two; British Isles three; Germany two, and France one.

California has the honor of leading the list, for Maurice E. McLoughlin is placed in position number one.

Mavrogordato's selection is as follows:

M. E. McLoughlin, America.
A. F. Wilding, Australasia.
N. E. Brookes, Australasia.
O. Froitzheim, Germany.
R. N. Williams, America.
J. C. Parke, British Isles.
A. H. Lowe, British Isles.
F. G. Lowe, British Isles.
R. Kleinhehoth, Germany.
M. Deougie, France.

America men play for the sake of winning. The more serious the question of winning, the more serious the need of winning honorably. Sport in America is not mere fun; it is a test of character, and nothing that makes the player less a gentleman belongs to it.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

RICHMOND-HAYWARD GAME IS POSTPONED; 3 MEN HURT

At a late hour yesterday afternoon a telephone message from Hayward was received by Athletic Manager McAllister, asking that the Richmond-Hayward basketball game for next Saturday be postponed. McAllister granted the postponement.

The girls' game, which had been arranged for the same day, was also called off. The receipt of the news greatly disheartened the girls, as they have been industriously practicing on the outside court, getting into good trim for the 'trimming of the Apripts' fast girls' nine. They hope to be able to play the girls' team of each school in the C. A. C. A. league on the same day the boys play them. They have made a good start by defeating Centerville.

The reason given by the Hayward athletic management is the injury of three players of their team, which would cripple their team. No alternate date was arranged for, but the game will probably be played on January 10, a date which is reserved for the games.

It would have been possible for Richmond to have taken Saturday's game by the forfeiture of Hayward, for the league regulations do not provide for postponement of games. However, rather than incur Hayward's displeasure, for she is now Richmond's strongest friend in the proposition of retaining Richmond in the C. A. C. A. league, it was considered politic to allow the postponement.

Athletic Manager McAllister stated after the Hayward postponement yesterday that he had excellent prospects for obtaining a game for Friday night. This announcement will be greeted with pleasure, for the basketball games, followed by dancing, have of late grown very popular with the high school students.

The possibility of a Christmas game, that was being promoted by a few alumni men, was entirely squelched yesterday by the refusal of the high rugger to back the event. There should be one big high school-alumni game a year, and that on Thanksgiving day.

FEATURE FILM IS AT THE LYRIC TONIGHT

The main feature at the Lyric tonight will be "Our Enemy's Spy." It is of special interest as part of the action of the drama takes place in front of the Ferry building in San Francisco. Another part is enacted in Honolulu.

The management of the enterprising theater promises the people of Richmond that "they will always find it nice and warm at the Lyric."

FUTURE DOINGS

Dec. 4—Presbyterian church will give a bazaar.

Dec. 4 and 5—Presbyterian bazaar in building formerly occupied by Marshall & Mayfield, 1014 Macdonald avenue.

Dec. 4—Knights and Ladies of Lincoln dance in Bank Hall. Music by Lincoln orchestra.

Dec. 2—Turkey whist party, Fraternal Brotherhood, at Fraternal Hall.

Dec. 5—Whist party by the Richmond Club at Sequoia Hall.

Dec. 5—Whist party, Richmond Club, in Sequoia Hall.

Dec. 11—Turkey whist party, Royal Neighbors, in K. P. Hall.

"WEAKLY SKUNK" WILL APPEAR TODAY

Considerable interest has been centering around the appearance of the "Weakly Skunk," which will make its "re debut" today. It will be a vast improvement upon the clever student paper that appeared at the beginning of the semester, and in its wealth of serial stories and articles, its continued existence is assured.

A great "mist of mystery" surrounds the mysterious announcement of a coming feature of the paper, a revelation, or something under the caption of "The Mystery." It is causing much talk among the girl students.

No further development have been made in the situation of the art lecture proposition. But ten tickets were subscribed for by the Richmond club women, and the entire proposition seems in a fair way of falling through completely.

Pools of water on the tennis courts yesterday prevented the playing of the scheduled championship doubles, between Cox-Jones and Pierson Lee.

PLAN ELABORATE INSTALLATION FOR JAN.

Three candidates for membership, one by transfer from another lodge, were balloted on by Women of Woodcraft, Log Cabin Camp, Circle No. 508, yesterday afternoon.

Grand Captain Neighbor Miller of Oakland was a visitor.

The following were appointed on a committee to arrange for public installation ceremonies in January: Mesdames Scott, Mayfield, Edgerth, Chamberlain. An elaborate banquet will be served following the installation.

HERB DOCTORS MAKE SPECIAL OFFER TO DIS- COURAGED SUFFERERS

Unusual Opportunity to try
These Herbs at Cost

To convince the most doubtful, we will give to any one mentioning this announcement a seven-days' treatment of herbs at half price. This is barely enough to cover the cost of the herbs. At the end of this trial you will be able to judge for yourself just how efficient this herb treatment is. We have letters of thanks for cures of almost every known disease. These letters from local and out-of-town sufferers are open to your inspection at our office. The following letter shows the high regard in which we are held by our many grateful patients:

To Whom It May Concern:
I wish to testify that after suffering many years from Kidney and Bladder troubles, accompanied by Rheumatism and Malaria, I decided to come to California from Idaho for my health. Since then I have tried various American physicians in an effort to regain my lost health. My physician advised me that he could do nothing for me and that the only hope for me was an operation, costing over $200. Being very discouraged and suffering intensely, I was attracted to the advertisement in the newspaper of Doctors Chan and Kong here in Oakland. I consulted the famous Doctor Kong and after being under his treatment for three weeks, I am surprised and happy to say that I am today a perfectly well and happy woman. I experienced relief immediately after taking the second treatment of this wonderful medicine. My sincere advice to women suffering from any cause whatsoever, is to consult Doctor Kong. I am not only perfectly cured but have been saved the dread of an operation, to say nothing of the great amount of money I would necessarily have had to spend.

I will be glad to meet anyone wishing to know more fully my opinion of Doctors Chan and Kong and their marvelous ability.

Very truly,
(Signed),
